Serious Farms' Mission

At Serious Farms our mission is to grow the very best food. We do this by marrying organic and sustainable practices with our commitment to nutritious food as a human right. We believe that care of the soil is care of the community. And it is toward a truly community supported agriculture that we strive.

Where's the farm?

We grow vegetables in our Selinsgrove backyard and in the East Snyder Community Garden, where we also volunteer to help keep the garden going. We draw on intensive farming techniques to grow vegetables sustainably in a small amount of space. Please contact us about visiting or volunteering.

We look forward to sharing our delicious and healthy food with you!

Thank you for supporting local, sustainable farming.

Welcome to Serious Farms

The CSA

We're delighted to offer Community Supported Agriculture shares again in the 2013 growing season. For each of 20 weeks, from May through September, you'll receive a healthy assortment of organically-grown, primarily heirloom and open-pollinated vegetables. Each share is perfect for a small family, generous for a couple. You'll choose convenient pickup in Selinsgrove or Northumberland. The price for each share is $525. To sign up, fill out the attached form and mail your check for the full amount or for the portion that you are able to pay right now to Serious Farms.

For potential members seeking a half share, we suggest that you find a friend and split a full share. You may choose to divide the contents of each week's share, or alternate pickup weeks so that you receive a full share every other week.

The vegetables

We aim to provide vegetables you know and love such as heirloom tomatoes and green beans along with less famous veggies such as garlic scapes and kale. You'll enjoy eating seasonally. For example, in the spring we'll have salad greens and snap peas. In the summer, look forward to tomatoes and cucumbers. In the fall, we'll be harvesting peppers and potatoes. For our full crop list, please contact us.

In addition to vegetables, your share includes fresh herbs and bouquets of flowers. New Serious CSA Members will also receive a seasonal cookbook with recipes to inspire from spring through fall.

Please contact Harvey and Jen if you have any questions.

We can't wait to share our bountiful harvest with you.
